

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Paul K. Suijk
Senior Vice President and CFO
(804) 287-5694

American Chemical Society Signs Multi-Year Contract Extension with Cadmus Communications

Richmond, Virginia (March 15, 2005) - Cadmus Communications Corporation (NASDAQ/NM: CDMS) today announced that the American Chemical Society (ACS) has signed a multi-year contract extension for printing and related services. The ACS, the world's leading society publisher of scientific content, has relied on Cadmus for the printing and distribution of its 32 scholarly journals for many years.

"We look forward to continuing our strong relationship with Cadmus as we address the serious challenges facing today's journal publishing environment", stated Bob Bovenschulte, President of ACS' Publications Division. "Cadmus' dedication and focus on the scholarly publishing market is clearly evident throughout the organization and is a key reason that ACS continues to rely on Cadmus for support of our publishing program."

"ACS and Cadmus have had an ongoing relationship since 1996 and we are honored to support such a market leader in its mission of disseminating critical scientific content," said Steve Hare, President of Cadmus' Publishing Services Group. "We are pleased to extend and expand our relationship for the future. Multi-year agreements enable us to plan, invest and work more closely in a strategic partnership with the customer on initiatives to increase efficiency and effectiveness."

ABOUT THE ACS

The American Chemical Society (www.acs.org) is a nonprofit organization, chartered by the U.S. Congress, with a multidisciplinary membership of more than 159,000 chemists and chemical engineers. It publishes numerous scientific journals and databases, convenes major research conferences and provides educational, science policy and career programs in chemistry. Its main offices are in Washington, D.C., and Columbus, Ohio.

ABOUT CADMUS

Cadmus Communications Corporation provides end-to-end, integrated graphic communications services to professional publishers, not-for-profit societies and corporations. Cadmus is the world's largest provider of content management and production services to scientific, technical and medical journal publishers, the fifth largest publications printer in North America, and a leading national provider of specialty packaging products and services. For more information about the innovative technologies and products developed for publishers by Cadmus, visit www.cadmus.com.